

The viewpoint chosen for a given analysis, including a viewpoint of society, the government, the health care system or the payer.