

A process whereby a group of experts examines an issue and, through a vote or some other means, reaches an agreement on the solution to be chosen.

Note: This process may be structured or unstructured and may employ a method such as the nominal group technique or the Delphi technique.