

The product of the quantity of a resource and the unit price of that resource.