

All the fixed or variable costs of the resources (goods, services, etc.) monopolized in implementing an intervention and managing its consequences.

Note: Drummond and his collaborators do not support the use of this concept.