

A choice made by a competent person on the basis of comprehensive information regarding an intervention, procedure, or the availability and quality of health services.