

A randomised pragmatic trial characterized by the recruitment of a large number of subjects, broad patient inclusion criteria, multiple study sites, a simplified data collection process and use of electronic registers.

Note: The purposes of this type of trial include detecting small and moderate treatment effects, obtaining data on the practical effectiveness of the treatment and improving the external validity of the findings.