A conditional arrangement between manufacturer and payer that enables earlier reimbursement of a health technology to address uncertainty in its performance or to manage its utilization.

Note 1: Related terms include managed entry agreement, managed entry scheme, coverage with evidence development, and managed access.