

A measurable component observed after an intervention has been applied.