

A computerized system comprising about 40 medical databases managed by the United States National Library of Medicine.