The optimal distribution of healthcare resources required to produce a given level of health outcomes, taking into account consumer preferences.

Note 1: Related terms include efficiency and technical efficiency.