

A guideline developed using a systematic method to help practitioners and patients make decisions about appropriate health care.

Note: The development of clinical guidelines may use technology assessment methods or be based on technology assessment reports.

Syn.: clinical practice guideline