

A trial comparing at least one intervention with a control, where eligible participants are allocated to an intervention or control group, with the intention of creating groups with similar baseline characteristics, prior to exposure to the intervention or control.

Acronym: CCT

Note 1: Not all controlled clinical trials are randomized.

Note 2: Related terms include randomized controlled trial and non-randomized controlled trial.