A natural logarithm used in logistic models and graphical representations of odds ratios.