

A measure of central tendency calculated by dividing the sum of all the observed values by the number of observations.

Note: The word mean used alone generally refers to the arithmetic mean.

Syn.: arithmetic mean