

The value of the benefits of a better option that is given up when another option is chosen.