

The assignment of an order of priority based on explicit or implicit criteria for selection of health technologies for assessment.