

A preference deduced from the choices that an individual makes.

Note: Preferences may be revealed by choices made in a natural setting or by responses to an investigator's questions.