

A measure of the overall confidence in the conclusions or recommendations of a systematic review, health technology assessment, or guidelines based on the quality of the evidence included.

Note: Related terms include quality of evidence and strength of recommendations