

The extent to which inferences drawn from a study are accurate and free of bias.

Note 1: Two types of study validity are recognised: internal validity and external validity.